

Why Your Help Matters

The future of HRET is dependent upon the ability to provide a space for our riders and horses that allows the program to grow and serve more in our community.

Our current home is a rented space that restricts our teaching hours, class offerings and has insufficient space to offer ADA accommodations.

We have to suspend classes during the winter months so as not to endure the bitter elements this inflicts on our staff, volunteers, riders, and horses. The ability to offer a climate-controlled arena to our riders will allow us to operate classes year-round.

Our new facility will provide optimal space for expansion of our services including our veteran's program and agriculture/farming experience classes. We ask for your support to help bring our dream barn to life.

Your financial support, services, goods, and labor donation is a critical stepping stone to HRET's future.
